

Date: April 30, 2018

Subject: XYG windshields and ADAS

Xinyi Automobile Glass ("XYG") hereby certifies that windshields we produce for replacement use on vehicles with Advanced Driver Assistance Systems ("ADAS") are compatible with such systems, provided that the windshields are properly installed and correctly calibrated.

As a leading automotive glass supplier, XYG is committed to maintain superior product quality and to ensure all product safety requirements are met. Our replacement windshields are manufactured using the same materials and equipment as with OEM productions and are subject to the same quality control processes. As such, the use of our replacement windshields would present no more risks relative to the vehicle ADAS features in comparison to the use of windshields marked with an OEM logo.

As a note of caution, end-user consumers and vehicle operators should be reminded that the quality of the windshield, its proper installation, subsequent necessary calibrations and optimal road conditions are all contributing factors to the proper functioning of ADAS functions on vehicles. XYG assumes no responsibility or liability related to the windshield if: 1) the windshield does not suit the vehicle for which it has been used, or 2) a change in design or functionality has been made to the windshield or to any of the attachments, or 3) the condition of the windshield is no longer in its original manufactured state at the time of installation, or 4) the installation of the windshield has not been done correctly by a certified technician, or 5) the required calibration has not been performed properly after installation by a certified technician, or 6) any malfunctions, defects, errors in the vehicle's ADAS functions has been caused by any of the aforementioned conditions.

